To whom it may concern

In early 2008 303 Group engaged the services of Peter Buruma, Designer Project Group, to build the interior of our new offices in Pymont.

The project involved gutting the building and then starting with a blank canvas. Peter was great to work with – his professionalism and particularly his style and personal manner made it a pleasurable experience. His hands on approach, attention to detail and constant presence on site gave us reassurance and confidence. When issues did crop up as they do with any build Peter listened to us, advised us and then acted.

The result is a credit to his drive, his organisation and his ability to bring the design to reality. We are really pleased with the finished building and would highly recommend Peter for any build projects.

Sincerely

Matthew Clarke
